

Doctor of Nursing Practice

MSU ANNOUNCES A NEW DNP PROGRAM

The MSU College of Nursing Doctor of Nursing Practice Program (DNP) is a post masters curriculum for nationally certified advance practice nurses.

The degree prepares nurses to:

- Provide clinical, organizational and systems' leadership at the highest level
- Design, implement and evaluate high quality and cost-effective healthcare services for diverse populations
- Champion healthcare policy and operational improvement using evidence-based data and technology to enhance and guide nursing practice across all clinical practice settings
- Collaborate across disciplines and organizations with providers and clients to achieve sustainable improvements in healthcare outcomes

📍 Applications for the Doctor of Nursing Practice open October, 2012.

📍 Classes begin fall semester 2013.
